

FEATURES

- 10 WRECK OF THE ALFRED D. SNOW
The loss of this classic sailing ship brought out the best and the worst in humanity / by Michael D. White
- 18 BENHAM: FASTEST IN THE FLEET
After fighting some of the deadliest Pacific battles, this plucky destroyer would succumb to the Tokyo Express / by Charles H. Bogart
- 26 THE RED RIVER SQUADRON
What had the potential of being one of the greatest Union victories of the Civil War ended in fiasco as human greed and corruption spelled ultimate defeat / by Dana Wegner
- 38 HOLMAN PROJECTOR
This unusual weapon aided in protecting England's small boats during the hazardous early days of the Second World War / by Larry L. Hothem
- 42 RAINBOW SHOWS HER COLORS
This tired old cruiser was the only ship available to protect Canada's west coast interests after the start of the Great War / by Jon D. McDermott
- 50 THE GREAT BOMBAY EXPLOSION
A load of high explosives combined with ignorance on their handling led to a WWII disaster / by Howard Carter
- 56 HITLER'S CARRIER
The improbable life and times of Germany's World War Two aircraft carrier — the Graf Zeppelin / by William B. Mueller

DEPARTMENTS

- 4 SEA MAIL
News and views from the readers of Sea Classics
- 6 INTEL FILE
Highlighting the discovery of an Australian submarine lost 103-years ago / Staff Report
- 34 YOUR NAVY
Our popular photo feature from the Navy's best photojournalists / by Howard Carter

COVER: After being relieved from watch, a Sailor walks across the flight deck of the USS John C. Stennis (CVN-74) at Bremerton, Washington, on 25 December 2017. (USN/Erika Kugler)

THIS PAGE: MV-22 Osprey assigned to VMM-161 (Reinforced) aboard the amphibious assault ship USS America (LHA-6) in the Indian Ocean on 20 December 2017. (USN/Vance Hand)

