USS Harry S. Truman (CVN-75) participates in a replenishment-at-sea with USNS Arctic (T-AO) accompanied by USS Arleigh Burke (DDG-51) in the Atlantic on 12 February. Truman is underway for composite training unit exercise (COMPTUEX), which evaluates the strike group's ability as a whole to carry out sustained combat operations from the sea, ultimately certifying the Harry S. Truman Carrier Strike Group for deployment. (USN/Kaysee Lohmann)

Dan Levin, F-35 Pax River Integrated Test Force, pilots F-35/BF-2 during one of the last sloped landing pad test flights at Marine Corps Auxiliary Landing Field Bogue, North Carolina, on 8 February. The test flight was flown with the spin recovery chute installed for aft center of gravity vertical landing testing. (USN/Dane Wiedmann)

Members assigned to Coastal Riverine Squadron (CRS) 10 recover a 34-ft tactical patrol craft at Port de Peche, Djibouti, on 9 February. CRS-10 is forward-deployed to the US 6th Fleet area of operations and conducts joint and naval operations, often in concert with Allied and interagency partners, in order to advance American national interests. (USN/Theresa Mullis)

USS Harry S. Truman transiting the Atlantic on 14 February during its COMPTUEX. (USN/Scott Swofford)

Los Angeles-class attack submarine USS Bremerton (SSN-698) pulls in to Changi Naval Base, Singapore, on 14 February for a port visit to strengthen partnership and a chance for a crew rest. Bremerton is on a regularly scheduled deployment to the Indo-Pacific region.
